Topics

The Conference aims to examine the link between research into cancer and clinical applications of laboratory findings, and to focus on the biomolecular development of new biological drugs. The conference also aims to promote open dialogue between laboratory researchers, clinical oncologists and pharmaceutical companies, of fundamental importance for the successful translation of research into practice.

Areas of interest are as follows:

1. Breast cancer
2. Gastrointestinal cancer
3. Onco-hematology
4. Genitourinary cancer
5. Lung cancer
6. Melanoma
7. Osteoncology
8. Immunotherapy
9. Microenvironment and tissue architecture
10. miRNA
11. Biobanking
12. Circulating Tumor cells
13. Radiobiology
14. Radionuclide Therapy
